You at the heart of business

See you in 2024 in the productive west!

The West of Paraná, where the 23rd Edition of AveSui Latin America will be held, is today the region that concentrates the most productive square meter of animal protein in the world, bringing together the largest agro industries and cooperatives in the poultry and swine sector.

More and more investments and major companies are settling specifically in this region and turning it into the largest meeting point for the sector in Latin America.

AveSui is a business showcase filled with innovations, launches and news in solutions and services that can take your company to the next level.

It will be 3 days of a lot of networking, visibility and closed deals.

And all this happens in the Event Center with the best infrastructure on the market! There are 20 thousand m² with the most modern in terms of security, acoustic treatment, stage structure, air conditioning, seminar rooms, ample and free parking and excellent services.

Held in Latin America's largest agrocluster

The strategic geographical location is one of the points that contributed to the choice of the perfect site for holding the fair.

The proximity to the triple border, composed of Brazil, Paraguay and Argentina, provides a favorable environment for the exchange of experiences and knowledge between different cultures and markets, strengthening the commercial and technological exchange in the poultry and swine industry.
